Your Information. Securely Managed.

Confidential documents and media are collected from locked containers by Recall's Security Service Representatives. The materials are emptied into Recall's alarm-equipped vehicles, then transported to a Recall Secure Destruction Center. There they are shredded or pulverized and sent for recycling. Finally, a Certificate of Destruction is provided with each invoice.

DeStroy

There's no way to estimate the damage that can result when sensitive information gets into the wrong hands. Aside from any personal damage, the effects to a company's image can be devastating.

With DeStroy, Recall securely collects confidential material such as paper, film and other media then safely transports this material to a protected environment where it is professionally destroyed and sent out for recycling.

During the process, Recall takes every precaution to ensure the confidentiality and safety of your trade secrets, customer privacy and sensitive documents. Our global Standard Operating Procedures and network of Secure Destruction Centers are specifically designed to provide the assurance that you need and require for compliance as well as peace of mind.

Safely protecting trade secrets and customer privacy

The proper destruction of highly sensitive business information calls for a reputable and knowledgeable provider – one that operates to the highest standards of security, professionalism and efficiency. Our global network of Secure Destruction Centres is specifically engineered and constantly monitored to provide that assurance. Plus, with DeStroy you can contract with a single vendor for the collection, shredding and recycling of confidential paper – and safeguard information at every stage of the process. You have one contact for all your needs, one invoice for all activities.

Secure destruction of sensitive data and media

It's not always safe to remove digital data from circulation simply by erasing and deleting. The safest approach is to destroy the media itself. With DeStroy, items such as disks, tapes, transparencies, CDs, microfiche and other materials are thoroughly destroyed until they are rendered unrecognizable and unusable. Bulk quantities are securely destroyed by arranging for collection by our Security Service Representatives. Once transported in our alarm-equipped vehicle to our Secure Destruction Center, the items are turned into shreds, pellets or even fine dust. Whenever possible, the materials are recycled.

Bringing added value

In addition, with DeStroy, you can obtain service reports and track performance as mandated by your company's standard operating procedures and regulatory requirements. The DeStroy service Recall ensures that your entire operational footprint is consistently served on a timely basis by industry professionals. Services are provided and key performance indicators are tracked at Recall with our expertise you can ensure best-practice procedures are adhered to throughout your organization.
